Media Relations

The Media Relations Office is located on the Upper Suite Level of Toyota Center, 1510 Polk Street, Houston, TX 77002.

Credentials

All requests for working press, photo and broadcast credentials for Houston Comets home games should be made in writing on company letterhead by an authorized editor or sports director by noon the day before the game requested. Direct all requests to Allan Rojas, Comets Media Relations Coordinator, Houston Comets, Toyota Center, 1510 Polk Street, Houston, TX 77002 or by fax at (713) 758-7339. All credentials can be acquired at the media entrance of Toyota Center on La Branch Street.

Interviews

All interview requests for the Houston Comets should be directed to Allan Rojas. The Comets coaching staff and players are available for interviews each practice day. On game days, players are generally available for a 30-minute period beginning 90 minutes before tip off; following games — after a 10-minute cooling off period — both coaches will be available in the post-game interview area or outside the team's locker room. The locker rooms will then be opened for player interviews. Anyone wearing a media credential will not be allowed to obtain autographs.

Game Night

The media entrance is located on the La Branch Street side of Toyota Center. The press door opens two hours prior to tip off. Press parking is available at Toyota Tundra Parking Garage (at the intersection of Jackson and Leeland). Parking is for working media only with proper credentials.

Practices

Team practices may be closed with the exception of the last half-hour, of which, must be open to the media. Players and staff will be available for interviews during a designated access period, either before or after practice.

Photographers

The photography areas in Toyota Center are along the baselines opposite both team benches. No photographers will be allowed on the sideline areas in front or behind the team benches or in front of press row. Please make all requests for strobe lighting to Allan Rojas at least two days prior to the game in question. In addition, please observe the WNBA rules for player escape routes — an open area approximately five feet on both sides of the basket. For player safety, we also ask that you do not leave your camera unattended in your working area. No tripods are permitted on the floor.

Fax-on-Demand System

In conjunction with WNBA FaxBack, all game notes, rosters, statistics, schedules and box scores will be available on the system. The WNBA FaxBack number is (201) 974-6094.

University '65

On October 30, 1996, Houston Rockets Owner Leslie Alexander brought another professional basketball team to Houston — the WNBA's Houston Comets.

When the NBA Board of Governors decided to create the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA), Alexander saw an opportunity to bring a new and exciting brand of professional basketball to the fans of Houston. Alexander, who knew firsthand of the city's love for professional basketball, eagerly applied for the right to operate one of the league's eight charter franchises.

Houston was granted a franchise and immediately Alexander set out to build another championship team. He strongly believed that in the first year of play, exceptional leadership from the right coach could carry a team to a championship. After an exhaustive search, Alexander hired Head Coach Van Chancellor from the University of Mississippi. Alexander's formula worked to perfection as the Houston Comets set the standard in the WNBA by capturing the first four league titles.

"Women's basketball has been a great success in Houston because Houston is a great basketball city," Alexander said. "The fans love the Houston Comets and now the city can boast of four championships."

Chancellor, who was named WNBA Coach of the Year for three consecutive seasons (1997-99), knew that the Rockets organization was one with a dedication to winning.

"One of the main reasons I came to Houston was because of Leslie Alexander's commitment to winning," Chancellor said. "This is a first-rate organization, and I knew if I took this position, I would be a part of a winning franchise. Leslie and I talked about winning the first WNBA Championship when I was hired. I knew by his excitement and enthusiasm that he had a serious commitment. What a thrill it was to share that championship with such a great owner."

Alexander has continually proven his commitment to success, which enabled the Comets to be the only team in the league to make the playoffs in each of the first seven seasons of the WNBA:

- In 1997, the selection of Tina Thompson number one overall in the WNBA Draft, forming the "Big Three" with Cynthia Cooper and Sheryl Swoopes.
- In 1997, acquiring Janeth Arcain through the WNBA Elite Draft and adding Tammy Jackson.
- In 1998, drafting Polina Tzekova with the tenth selection overall. Tzekova became an integral part of the 1999 championship team.
- In 2002, trading for WNBA star Rebecca Lobo and drafting Michelle Snow.
- In 2002, the signing of Head Coach & General Manager Van Chancellor to a multi-year contract extension.
- In 2003, the re-signing of Cooper to play with the Comets.
- In 2005, trading for four-time WNBA All-Star Dawn Staley.
- In 2006, signing All-Star Tamecka Dixon.

Since 1993, Alexander has dedicated himself to building the Rockets and Comets in every area. His vision to construct a downtown arena took shape in November 2000, as Harris County voters approved a referendum to build a new home for the Rockets and Comets. Groundbreaking for the arena took place on July 31, 2001. Alexander's tireless efforts became a reality with the opening of Toyota Center in September 2003, building on his mission to be one of the league's elite teams on and off the court.

While Alexander's teams have been most successful on the basketball court, unique to the Rockets and Comets organization is its off-the-court commitment to the community. Building a better quality of life for Houstonians is the driving force of Alexander and the franchise.

"It's so important to me that the Houston Rockets and Comets find a way to thank the fans for their overwhelming devotion to our teams. One way we try to do that is by reaching out to help young people through our community programs and fundraising initiatives," Alexander said.

In September 2005, just days after Hurricane Katrina ravaged many parts of Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi, Alexander immediately stepped in to assist the thousands of displaced residents who took shelter in Houston by organizing Houston HopeFest. The unprecedented three-day relief effort held at Toyota Center consisted of a day-long donation drive, followed by two days of providing basic humanitarian assistance that included job skills training and placement services, housing assistance, as well as medical and counseling services.

Since 2002, Alexander has donated to Goodfellows three of the largest single contributions in the program's history. The Houston Chronicle project, Goodfellows, provides holiday gifts to needy children ages two through 10.

In 1995, Alexander established the Clutch City Foundation with the goal of providing help, hope and inspiration to those who might otherwise be forgotten. Through efforts of the Clutch City Foundation, players, coaches and business team members are involved in a multitude of community service and charity fundraising programs. A decade of active community involvement has resulted in over $6 million in donations to local charities, allowing the Clutch City Foundation to impact tens of thousands of Houstonians each year.

On July 30, 2003, the Comets joined members of M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in a dedication and ribbon cutting ceremony to mark the opening of Kim's Place. It was in the spring of 1999 when Alexander initially turned the attentions of the Clutch City Foundation to addressing this need very near and dear to Comets fans. In honor of the late Comets point guard, Kim Perrot, and her battle with cancer, Kim's Place provides adolescents battling cancer a place to relax and play between treatments with others who share their unique challenges. Proceeds from the Clutch City Foundation's April 1999 Tux & Tennessees Charity Gala were part of the initial gift for building Kim's Place. Then in July 2000, the organization made a $1.25 million donation to establish Kim's Place through a partnership with The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center. The seven-figure gift was the second-largest single donation ever made by an NBA team. Since then, countless Comets, as well as Kim Perrot fans from around the world, have contributed to the Kim's Place fund.

On August 12, 2005, the Comets and Clutch City Foundation held the Fourth Annual Houston Comets Charity Luncheon. In the past four years, Alexander's event has raised more than $142,000 for the Girl Scouts of San Jacinto Council, renovation of a basketball court used in the Therapeutic Recreation Program at the DePelchin Children's Center, refurbishment of basketball courts in the Houston Independent School District and to benefit The Children's Assessment Center of Houston.

When flooding from Tropical Storm Allison devastated the Houston area in June of 2001, the Houston Rockets and Comets helped to raise over $230,000 for flood relief by auctioning off hundreds of memorabilia items, including authentic rings from each of the organization's six championships. In addition to donating all of the memorabilia for the auction, as well as the funds raised, Alexander and the NBA & WNBA gave $150,000 to the flood relief effort.

In 1998, Alexander's organization was awarded the Leadership Houston "Leadership in Action" Award for outstanding community service to education, one year after winning the same award for outstanding community service to youth.

In 1997, Alexander and the Rockets were honored with the Pro Team Community Award, given by the World Sports Humanitarian Hall of Fame. This award recognizes one professional team each year that exemplifies community service and acts as a catalyst for community pride and spirit.

The Clutch City Foundation funds and operates comprehensive programs benefiting thousands of children each year. Through the Clutch City Foundation, Alexander and the Houston Rockets and Comets organization will continue to make a difference in the lives of Houstonians for years to come.

President & Chief Executive Officer

George Postolos is in his eighth season with the organization, and oversees all facets of the organization's business operations.

In his eight seasons, Postolos has worked diligently to further the organization's mission of being one of the league's elite teams on and off the court. Postolos leads the senior management team responsible for overseeing the Rockets, Comets, Toyota Center and related businesses. He supervises each of the organization's business units, including business development, finance and administration, legal, and sales and marketing. Postolos also works closely with team Owner Leslie Alexander in pursuing new sports properties and other business opportunities.

During Postolos's tenure, the Rockets and Comets have achieved many successes, including:

- Public/private partnership to finance and develop the new state-of-the-art, downtown arena.
- One of a kind partnership with the Houston Astros in the marketing of local telecast rights strengthening both franchises.
- Groundbreaking naming-rights agreement for Toyota Center.
- Launch of new Rockets logo and uniforms, created by Academy Award-winning designer Eiko Ishioka.
- One Team initiative designed to make the Rockets one of the best places to work in Houston.
- Partnership with HISD to improve the Kashmere Feeder System.
- Opening of Kim's Place for adolescents battling cancer made possible by a million dollar donation from the Rockets to M.D. Anderson Cancer Center.
- Selection of Toyota Center as the home of the 2006 NBA All-Star Game.

Postolos is also active in the community. He is a member of the education committee of the Greater Houston Partnership and chairs the subcommittee on student achievement. He is on the Board of Directors of the United Way of the Texas Gulf Coast. He is one of the founders of Management Leadership for Tomorrow's Houston chapter, and a member of the CEO Roundtable on Diversity.

Postolos arrived in Houston after working as Special Assistant to NBA Commissioner David Stern. Raised in San Antonio, Postolos worked as a teenager for his hometown San Antonio Spurs, which was owned by family friend, Angelo Drossos. Postolos is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School.

He and his wife, Nicole, reside in Houston with their 11-year-old son and three-year-old daughter.

Comets President & Chief Executive Officer

Andréa Young enters her first season as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Houston Comets. Young joined the Comets in January of 2006 to lead a restructuring of all Houston Comets business functions. In her current role, Young oversees all facets of the organization's business operations including ticket sales and services, corporate development and marketing. Young's primary initiatives during her first season have been the creation of a stand alone Comets business team, the launch of a new brand campaign and the formation of a special advisory board to help set strategic goals for the organization and analyze future growth opportunities. Young works closely with Rockets President and Chief Executive Officer George Postolos as a member of the organization's senior management team.

Young first joined the Comets and Rockets organization in 2000 to assist the internal team responsible for the negotiation and organization of support for a new downtown arena in Houston which culminated with the construction and launch of Toyota Center in 2003. Upon the opening of Toyota Center, Young assumed the role of Director of Event Booking and Marketing where she was responsible for talent booking and the oversight of all marketing and communications elements for non-tenant events at the new arena including concerts, family shows, and other specialty bids and events. During her tenure, Young was instrumental in securing the 2006 NBA All-Star Game and associated events surrounding the week-long celebration.

Raised in Northern Virginia and Dallas, Texas, Young holds a degree in communications from Vanderbilt University. Young is also a graduate of Leadership Houston and a member of the Board of Directors for Girls Incorporated of Greater Houston. Prior to joining the Comets and Rockets, Young got her start in sports working for the Tennessee Titans of the NFL in media relations where she worked for two seasons.

Young resides in Houston with her husband, John.

Executive Vice President of Basketball

Carroll Dawson is in his 26th season with the Houston Rockets organization and 10th as the Executive Vice President of Basketball for the Houston Comets.

Prior to the inaugural 1997 WNBA season, Dawson was commissioned by Owner Leslie Alexander to help assemble the first Houston Comets team. He guided the efforts to bring Sheryl Swoopes and Cynthia Cooper to Houston, and then drafted Wanda Guyton and Janeth Arcain in the WNBA Elite Draft. Dawson was also instrumental in the selection of Tina Thompson with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Finally, he worked with Alexander to hire three-time WNBA Coach of the Year Van Chancellor. Currently, Dawson is Chancellor's top advisor on all basketball matters.

Dawson, who also serves as General Manager for the Houston Rockets, joined the organization in 1980. Prior to moving into the front office, Dawson worked as an assistant coach under four Rockets head coaches, aiding Del Harris from 1980-83, Bill Fitch from 1983-88, Don Chaney from 1988-92 and Rudy Tomjanovich from 1992-96.

Affectionately known as "CD," Dawson oversees all player personnel activity for the Rockets. His duties include managing the entire scouting department, which includes an analysis of athletes at both the amateur and professional level. Dawson deals with free agency issues, trade inquiries and the assessment of the team's needs.

Dawson is recognized as one of the top executives in the NBA. Since moving to the Rockets front office job in 1996, he has shown the ability to both bolster a playoff contender with veterans and acquire emerging talent as part of a youth movement. In his first few years, he made trades for Charles Barkley and Scottie Pippen to give a team led by Hakeem Olajuwon even more experience. Dawson then helped the Rockets acquire several young talents in the following years, including Cuttino Mobley, Steve Francis and Yao Ming.

In 2004, Dawson changed the face of the Rockets franchise by obtaining one of the NBA's top players in Tracy McGrady. The two-time scoring champion was acquired from Orlando in a multi-player deal that included Francis and Mobley. Dawson gave Houston a nucleus of Yao and McGrady, two young players with a combined ten NBA All-Star Game selections. In addition, Dawson has provided support to this talented duo with the additions of Juwan Howard, Dikembe Mutombo, Bob Sura and David Wesley.

Dawson holds the distinction of being the only person on all four coaching staffs that led the Rockets to their NBA Finals appearances, as Houston advanced to the championship series in 1981, 1986, 1994 and 1995. Dawson is known throughout the NBA for his work with frontcourt players and has also been credited with teaching Hakeem Olajuwon his infamous jump hook. Dawson has coached many NBA All-Stars throughout his years with the Rockets, including Elvin Hayes, Moses Malone, Ralph Sampson and Tomjanovich.

A native Texan, Dawson hails from Alba, population 200, about 75 miles east of Dallas. As a 6-foot-5 high school center, he led Alba High School to a 44-3 record as a senior. He then went on to win Junior College All-America honors at Paris Junior College (Texas) under Head Coach Boyd Converse. After two seasons at Paris, Dawson moved on to Baylor University, where he led Bill Henderson's Baylor Bears in scoring and rebounding in each of his two seasons. In 1960, he averaged 16.4 points as a senior to earn All-Southwest Conference honors.

In 1963, he returned to Baylor as an assistant to Head Coach Bill Menefee. He later succeeded Menefee as head coach in 1973, remaining in that position for more than three seasons. After spending two years as a scout for the Dallas Cowboys at the call of executive Gil Brandt, Dawson started a career as a salesman for Converse Shoe Company.

Dawson has been honored with induction into the Paris Junior College Hall of Fame in 1991, the Baylor University Hall of Fame in 1998 and the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame in 2001. In 2003, Dawson received one of his greatest accolades when he was inducted, along with Tomjanovich, into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

One of the top golfers in the NBA, Dawson resides in Houston with his wife, Sharon. Sharon has a daughter, Elizabeth and a son, Michael.

Since being named Head Coach and General Manager of the WNBA's Houston franchise on April 29, 1997, Van Chancellor has continued to raise the standard of excellence within the arena of women's basketball. His efforts are evident by both his record and the accomplishments of his individual players. In nine seasons with the Comets, Chancellor owns more wins than any coach in WNBA history with a 193-95 (.670) regular season mark and a 20-12 (.625) record in the playoffs. Chancellor's Comets seized the first four WNBA Championships and were the only team in the league to qualify for the playoffs in each of the first seven seasons of the WNBA.

Chancellor, who is the only head coach in the WNBA to have been with his original team since the league's inception in 1997, has received many accolades as head coach. He earned WNBA Coach of the Year honors three consecutive seasons (1997, 1998, 1999) and was named head coach of the Western Conference All-Star Team three straight years (1999, 2000, 2001). Chancellor's exceptional collegiate and professional coaching career has been recognized with induction into the East Central Community College (Decatur, MS) Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998, the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in 2001, the Ole Miss M-Club Athletic Hall of Fame in 2002, and the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame in 2005. In addition, Chancellor was one of 16 individuals named as a Finalist for election into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame Class of 2005 and 2006. He was one of only four Finalists to be named in the first year of consideration by his respective Screening Committee. Chancellor also received the 2005 Outstanding Alumni Award from the American Association of Community Colleges. This national award is presented annually to former community college students who are making outstanding contributions in their chosen career fields and to their communities.

Despite missing the services of Tina Thompson, who was sidelined for the first 19 games of the 2005 season following the birth of her child, Chancellor returned the Comets to the postseason with a mark of 19-15. Led by Sheryl Swoopes, who won the WNBA scoring title with 18.6 points per game, Houston averaged 67.9 points as a team, which was the highest team average since the 2000 season (77.3 ppg). Swoopes also captured 2005 WNBA All-Star MVP honors while Michelle Snow made her first All-Star Game appearance.

Although Chancellor saw his team's streak of consecutive playoff appearances come to a halt at seven following a 13-21 record in 2004, the Comets still finished among the best defensive teams by ranking third in the WNBA for opponent points per game (65.0). Individually, Tina Thompson earned First-Team All-WNBA honors after ranking second in the league in scoring with a career-high 20.0 points per game. Michelle Snow finished third in the league in rebounding by averaging 7.7 boards per outing. Chancellor's 2004 team also saw the preseason retirements of Cynthia Cooper and Ukari Figgs as well as Janeth Arcain spending the entire season to honor her Brazilian National Team commitments.

Chancellor led his team to a 20-14 record in 2003 and a spot in the WNBA Playoffs. Houston's defense again led the way, ranking first in the WNBA for fewest points allowed per game (63.0) for the fourth time under Chancellor's watch. Sheryl Swoopes also earned her third WNBA Defensive Player of the Year honor. Even though Cooper's return to play with the Comets was cut short due to right shoulder surgery, Chancellor saw the emergence of Snow, who was named WNBA Most Improved Player of the Year.

In 2002, Chancellor guided the Comets to a 24-8 record and a sixth journey to the postseason. The Comets also won a franchise-best 13 consecutive home games (May 29-Aug. 6) and finished with the WNBA's best home record (14-2). In addition, Houston's stifling defense ranked first in the league in points allowed per game (59.1) and opponent field goal percentage (.375). Swoopes returned to action, and for the second time in her career, captured both the WNBA Most Valuable Player and Defensive Player of the Year awards in the same season.

Despite the loss of Swoopes to a season-ending knee injury and the retirement of Cooper, Chancellor led his team to a 19-13 mark in 2001 and a fifth-consecutive trip to the playoffs. In addition, Arcain earned the WNBA Most Improved Player award and Thompson became just the fifth player in WNBA history to record 2,000 points.

During the 2000 season, Chancellor and the Comets won their fourth consecutive WNBA Championship and became the only professional sports franchise in the United States in the past decade to win four straight titles. The Comets concluded the regular season with a 27-5 record and a perfect 6-0 mark in the playoffs. Individual honors went to Swoopes, who won her first-ever WNBA Most Valuable Player award and was named as the league's Defensive Player of the Year. Cooper was also named MVP of the WNBA Finals for the fourth-consecutive time.

Chancellor and his team spent the 1999 season on an emotional roller coaster. In February, the team's starting point guard, Kim Perrot, was diagnosed with cancer and began a difficult battle with the disease that ended on August 19 at age 32. Despite the tragic loss of a friend, Chancellor helped guide the team to a 26-6 regular season record and a third WNBA Championship.

In 1998, the Comets set numerous league records en route to a decisive 27-3 finish and a second WNBA title. The team's .900 winning percentage in the regular season is still the best finish in the history of professional basketball, men or women. Houston also recorded 15 consecutive wins between June 27 and July 30, which is the longest streak in team history. Individual honors followed the team's success, as Cooper captured her second-straight WNBA Most Valuable Player award. Following the season, Chancellor coached the 1998 WNBA Touring Team, a squad of elite WNBA players who competed against the best teams in Brazil.

In his first year with the Comets, Chancellor led the team to an 18-10 mark, the best record in the league, and his first of three consecutive conference titles. The inaugural season was one of unpredictability for Chancellor as Houston's franchise player, Swoopes, was on the sidelines expecting her son, Jordan. Left with a lineup of players that included Cooper, first-round draft pick Thompson and Brazilian phenomenon Arcain, Chancellor used his coaching skills and positive outlook to help produce a championship team.

In addition to his coaching experience in the WNBA, Chancellor owns a 38-0 record as a USA Basketball head coach. Chancellor's success with USA Basketball has twice earned him the honor of USA Basketball National Coach of the Year (2002, 2004), while his 2002 Women's World Championship Team and 2004 USA Women's Olympic Team/USA Basketball Senior National Team both collected the honor of USA Basketball Team of the Year. Named head coach of the 2004 USA Women's Olympic Team on June 10, 2003, Chancellor led the USA to an unblemished 8-0 record and captured the gold medal with a 74-63 victory over previously unbeaten Australia at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece (Aug. 13-29). Chancellor's gold-medal-winning effort also helped him earn the Clarion Ledger Co-Sportsman of the Year for 2004 along with sprinter Otis Harris, who captured gold and silver medals in the 2004 Games. Chancellor also saw his 2004 USA Basketball Women's Senior National Team finish its 13-game spring training with a 13-0 mark (3-0 in Cuba Series, 6-0 on European Tour, 4-0 on Domestic Tour) before defeating the WNBA All-Star Team, 74-58, in the "WNBA vs. USA Basketball: The Game at Radio City" on August 5. The USA then closed out its pre-Olympic exhibition schedule with victories over France and Spain to capture First Place in the 2004 Spain Tournament. Chancellor previously guided the 2002 USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team to a perfect 9-0 record and the gold medal at the 14th FIBA World Championship for Women held in the People's Republic of China (Sept. 14-25). Named to his position on November 8, 2001, Chancellor's USA squad defeated Russia, 79-74, for the United States' seventh gold medal in World Championship play. Chancellor also led the USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team to a 4-0 mark and the 2002 Opals World Challenge title in pre-tournament action.

Before joining the professional ranks, Chancellor spent 19 successful seasons as the head coach of the University of Mississippi Lady Rebels. Under his guidance, the Lady Rebels posted a winning percentage of .740 (439-154), made 14 NCAA Tournament appearances, including four NCAA Elite Eights, and became recognized as one of the premier women's basketball programs in the nation. As a collegiate coach, Chancellor ranks 13th in all-time winning percentage amongst women's basketball coaches. Chancellor, who was named SEC Coach of the Year on three occasions (1987, 1990, 1992), never had a losing overall record at Ole Miss despite competing in one of the toughest conferences in the nation. In addition, his 1991-92 team won the program's first-ever SEC regular-season championship. Chancellor was also named National Coach of the Year by Women's Basketball News Service & World Almanac (1992) as well as Mississippi Sportswriters Association Coach of the Year (1995).

Chancellor played two years of basketball at East Central Junior College in Decatur, Mississippi. Chancellor later transferred to Mississippi State, where he earned a bachelor's degree in math and physical education in 1965. He also entered the coaching ranks during his senior year at Mississippi State, serving as head coach of the boy's basketball team at Noxapater High School. Chancellor went on to coach boys and girls' basketball at Horn Lake High School and at Harrison Central High School in Mississippi. His 1976-77 and 1977-78 Harrison Central girls' teams captured overall State Championships. Chancellor, who received his master's degree in physical education from the University of Mississippi in 1973, also led the Big Red of Gulfport, Mississippi, to an AAU National Championship for girls 15-and-under in 1974.

Born September 27, 1943, in Louisville, Mississippi, Chancellor and his wife, Betty, live in Houston and have two children, John and Renee, and four grandsons, Nicholas, Jacob, Joseph and Zachary. Chancellor is a tireless contributor to the community and his church. Among his vast involvement, he is active with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA), has participated as a guest teacher during Teach For America Week and has been a guest speaker through the Prison Fellowship Ministries. The past two years in December, Chancellor has hosted a group in serving a special holiday lunch and delivering gifts to the Open Door Mission in Houston. A member of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association, he is also a past Honorary Committee Member for the Sports & Celebrity Carnival benefiting Special Olympics Texas. In addition, Chancellor was named the celebrity host of the 2004 Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas Golf Classic benefiting The Children's Assessment Center of Houston. He also does motivational speaking at numerous local, as well as national events. A book published in the fall of 1999, Nothin' But a Champion, chronicles Chancellor's life from his childhood in Mississippi through his third WNBA Championship with the Comets. In 2004, he donated a portion of the proceeds from his book to Literacy Advance of Houston and was the first recipient of the Champions of Literacy Award given by the LAH. During the 2004-05 NBA season, Chancellor served as the television color analyst for the Houston Rockets broadcast team. He has also done color commentary for SEC women's basketball, as well as for women's college basketball on ESPN/ESPN2. Chancellor also served as an analyst during ESPN/ESPN2 coverage of the 2003 and 2005 Women's NCAA Basketball Tournament. His other visits behind the microphone include color analysis for several radio broadcasts for University of Houston Lady Cougars basketball.

Kevin Cook
Assistant Coach

Kevin Cook enters his 10th year with the Houston Comets after joining the team at the start of the 1997 season. Cook and Comets Head Coach Van Chancellor are the only two coaches in the WNBA who have been with their original team since the league's inception nine years ago.

Cook, who works with Houston's perimeter players, has also served as an assistant coach for the Western Conference All-Star Team at the 1999, 2000 and 2001 WNBA All-Star Games. During the offseason, Cook served his sixth year as head coach of Everyones Internet basketball team, a squad comprised of WNBA players and college graduates who compete on a collegiate tour each November. His past teams hold wins over Connecticut, Maryland, Rutgers and West Virginia. In the 2005-06 offseason, Cook taught camps in South Africa, and served as a consultant for the Spartak Moscow region in Russia.

Prior to joining the Comets, Cook gained 12 years of coaching experience at the collegiate level. As the top women's basketball assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at the University of Houston, Cook's primary focus was on the Lady Cougars frontcourt. He also coordinated Houston's annual summer camps. Before working at UH, Cook was the head women's coach at Garden City (KS) Community College, leading the Lady Broncobusters to a 21-win season in 1994-95. He also took the team to an appearance in the national junior college rankings.

Most of Cook's coaching knowledge came under the tutelage of long-time mentor Marian Washington. Cook served as Washington's assistant women's coach at the University of Kansas from 1984-93, helping lead the Jayhawks to three Big Eight titles. Several of Kansas' rookie classes were ranked among the top in the nation, largely due to Cook's recruiting efforts.

Cook began his coaching career during his senior year at Urbana University, serving as an assistant varsity coach and head junior varsity coach. He also filled the role of sports information director during that time. In 1982, he founded the city of Urbana's Amateur Athletic Union, coaching the men's and women's youth teams during the summers of 1982 and 1983. His women's teams won the state tournament and represented Ohio in the National AAU Tournament.

A native of Fremont, Ohio, Cook is a 1983 graduate of Ohio's Urbana University, where he earned his bachelor's degree in social sciences. Cook, who runs his own basketball camps, has conducted clinics at Gallaudet University, which is the only liberal arts university in the world designed exclusively for deaf and hard of hearing students, as well as in the Virgin Islands. In addition to his camps, Cook has served as the radio play-by-play announcer for the University of Houston Lady Cougars. He has also worked as a color commentator for the UH men's and women's basketball teams.

Karleen Thompson
Assistant Coach

Karleen Thompson enters her second season as an assistant coach with the Houston Comets after being named to her position on January 24, 2005.

Prior to joining the Comets last season, Thompson spent eight years in the Los Angeles Sparks organization. In 2004, Thompson served as interim co-head coach of the Sparks, along with Ryan Weisenberg, after Michael Cooper stepped down as head coach to join the Denver Nuggets of the NBA. She helped guide Los Angeles to an 11-3 record over the final 14 games of the 2004 regular season, clinching the best overall mark (25-9) in the WNBA. Thompson, who joined the Sparks organization in 1997, was promoted to an assistant coach prior to the 2002 campaign.

In addition to earning a pair of WNBA Championships (2001, 2002) with the Sparks, Thompson served as an assistant coach for the WNBA Western Conference All-Star Team on two occasions (2002, 2003). Thompson was also an assistant coach for the WNBA Select Team that captured second place in the FIBA Women's World Cup 2003, which was held in Samara, Russia (Oct. 14-19).

As a player, Thompson was recruited out of Junior College in 1993 by the University of Southern California and then Head Coach Marianne Stanley, who is currently an assistant coach with the New York Liberty. Under former Phoenix Mercury Head Coach Cheryl Miller, Thompson went on to be a two-time letterwinner at guard during her career (1993-94, 1994-95) with the Lady Trojans. Thompson also played on the 1993-94 USC team that included Sparks center Lisa Leslie and Comets forward Tina Thompson. She graduated in 1996 from USC with a double-major in psychology and sociology before moving on to work with Gatorade in the Sports Marketing Department.

Thompson began her collegiate career at Contra Costa College in Northern California, where she led her team to a conference title in basketball and became the state triple jump champion. She was also named a Junior College Kodak All-American in basketball and was inducted into the Junior College Hall of Fame.

A Texas native, Thompson was a highly recruited three-sport athlete in basketball, volleyball and track out of Snyder (TX) High School. She was a High School All-American in all three sports at Snyder and was one of the top recruits out of the State of Texas in track and volleyball. Thompson is also the proud mother of two daughters, Ayesha and Keisha.

Tom Cross
Director of Player Personnel

Tom Cross enters his second season as Director of Player Personnel with the Houston Comets after joining the team on January 20, 2005. In his position, Cross assists Comets Head Coach and General Manager Van Chancellor in evaluating WNBA personnel, international and developmental league players, as well as college draft prospects. In addition, Cross will help with team salary cap matters.

Prior to joining the Comets last season, Cross served as an assistant coach (2003-04) and as associate head coach (2004-05) with the University of Memphis Lady Tigers. While at Memphis, Cross worked as the on-the-court coach of the guards and oversaw individual skills development. He also served as the international recruiting coordinator and handled the Lady Tigers schedule.

Prior to his work with the Lady Tigers, Cross spent five seasons with the Detroit Shock. Cross joined the Shock as a staff assistant from the inception of the team in 1998. He was promoted to an assistant coach beginning with the 1999 season and was later elevated to the title of Assistant Coach/Director of Scouting following the 2000 campaign.

Considered an excellent evaluator of talent, Cross has scouted prospects in North America, South America, Europe, Australia and Asia. During his two years as Director of Scouting with the Shock, Detroit selected Deanna Nolan and Swin Cash with its first-round picks. A tribute to his ability to scout talent, Cash and Nolan were both 2003 WNBA All-Stars.

Before moving into the professional ranks, Cross worked as an administrative intern at Game Plan, Inc., a Miami, FL, based marketing firm that was responsible for producing and selling sponsorships for the football coach's show at the University of Miami. While employed with Game Plan, Cross completed his master's degree in sports administration in 1998 from St. Thomas University in Miami.

A native of Dallas, Texas, Cross earned his bachelor's degree in government from the University of Texas at Austin in 1995. He played one season of Division II basketball at Abilene Christian University (1991-92) before transferring to UT. He is married to Jae Cross (formerly Kingi) of Australia, who was a point guard for the Detroit Shock (2001, 2004) and the Phoenix Mercury (2004), and is currently a member of the San Antonio Silver Stars. The couple has two daughters, Jenisha and Taylor Leigh.

Michelle T. Leget
Coordinator of Sports Medicine

Michelle Leget enters her 10th season with the Houston Comets and her third as Coordinator of Sports Medicine. She spent her first seven seasons as the Comets head athletic trainer after joining the organization in May of 1997. Leget oversees all of the team's preventative care, treatment and rehabilitation, as well as administrative responsibilities.

Leget is also a member of the Houston Rockets athletic training staff. She is responsible for daily treatment, care and rehabilitation of Rockets players as well as assisting Vice President of Basketball Operations/Athletic Trainer Keith Jones in all other duties. Leget became the first female assistant athletic trainer in NBA history when she was hired by Houston in 1997.

In addition to her role with the Comets and Rockets, Leget was selected to serve as the athletic trainer for the West Team at the 1999 and 2001 WNBA All-Star Games. On March 14, 2002, Leget was chosen as the athletic trainer for the 2002 USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team, which won the gold medal at the 14th FIBA World Championship for Women held in the People's Republic of China.

Before joining the Comets and Rockets, Leget was an associate athletic trainer at the University of Houston for four years, working primarily with the Cougars football program. Leget also served as a graduate assistant trainer from 1991-93 at the University of Florida, where she worked with the Gators volleyball program.

A native of Vienna, Virginia, Leget received her bachelor's degree in sports medicine from Central Michigan University in 1990. She went on to earn a master's of exercise and sports science in athletic training and sports administration from the University of Florida in 1993. Leget is also a certified member of the National Athletic Trainer's Association.

Samantha Hicks
Head Athletic Trainer

Samantha Hicks enters her third season as head athletic trainer with the Houston Comets. Hicks is responsible for the daily management and prevention of injuries, physical therapy and rehabilitation of the players. She also serves in an administrative role, including the organization of team travel, player housing and operational matters.

In addition to her role with the Comets, Hicks assists the Houston Rockets training staff during the NBA season.

Hicks joined the Comets after working as a clinical coordinator at Baylor College of Medicine Orthopedic Surgery, where she assisted in providing healthcare to orthopedic injuries sustained by athletes and the general public. She also served as the head athletic trainer for the Houston Stealth of the National Women's Basketball League during the 2003 NWBL season.

While attending college, Hicks worked as a student intern assistant with the Comets training staff (2000-03) and performed an athletic training internship with the Houston Rockets (2003). She was also a graduate assistant athletic trainer and teaching assistant at Eastern Kentucky University.

A native of Evergreen Park, Illinois, Hicks received her bachelor's degree in exercise and sports studies from Tarleton State University in 2001. She went on to earn a master's degree in sports administration from Eastern Kentucky in 2003. Hicks grew up in Houston and attended Klein Forest High School.

Harold Liggins
Video Coordinator

Harold Liggins enters his ninth season as video coordinator for the Houston Comets. Liggins is responsible for all video breakdown and advance video scouting for the Comets.

Prior to joining the Comets, Liggins spent 30 years as the head coach at Port Gibson (Miss.) High School. During his high school coaching career, Liggins helped lead his girl's basketball team to two state basketball titles in Mississippi (3A & 4A).

His championship-caliber teams included former Comets player Yolanda Moore. In 1985, Liggins coached his 14-and-under girl's basketball team to a National AAU Title in Kansas City, Missouri.

In the offseason, Liggins resides in Port Gibson, Mississippi, with his wife, Gloria, and their two children, Angela and Tori.

Anthony Nila
Equipment Manager

Anthony "Tony" Nila II enters his sixth season as equipment manager for the Houston Comets and his eighth year with the organization. Nila's responsibilities include ordering and maintaining all of the team's equipment as well as assisting with team travel.

Nila joined the Houston Rockets basketball operations staff during the 1998-99 season and has served as an assistant under Rockets equipment manager Jay Namoc.

The native Houstonian attended Elsie High School and spent five years of his youth as a Rockets ball kid. Nila is also pursuing a degree in general business from the University of Houston.

Thaddeus Brown
Senior Vice President of Sales, Marketing & Broadcasting

Thaddeus "Tad" Brown is in his fourth season with the organization, and his second as Senior Vice President of Sales, Marketing & Broadcasting. He originally joined the Houston Rockets, Houston Comets and Toyota Center as Vice President of Corporate Development. Brown is responsible for the supervision and integration of the corporate development, marketing, and ticket sales and services departments. He works closely with President & Chief Executive Officer George Postolos as a lead member of the organization's senior management team, developing future growth opportunities for the enterprise.

Since joining the organization, Brown has played significant parts in the naming-rights agreement with Toyota Center and negotiation of a multi-year agreement between the Houston Regional Sports Network and Fox Sports Net Southwest to sub-license the Rockets and Comets local television rights.

Before joining the Rockets and Comets, Brown was a Founder & President of Streetball Partners International. He worked with the NBA and NBC Sports over the past decade to build Streetball into the largest global grassroots basketball property in the world. During his tenure at Streetball, he developed relationships with several prominent clients, including Gatorade, Southwest Airlines, Anheuser-Busch, Nike, Spalding, Foot Locker, Toyota and MasterCard. Brown managed all sales, sponsor service, licensing and new business initiatives for Streetball. He saw Streetball grow from a staff of 10 to over 250 employees during his tenure.

Brown is a graduate of Colgate University, where he was a four-year starter and three-year captain of the varsity basketball team. He and his wife, Janice, have four daughters, Kennedy, Addison, Nicolette and Chloe.

David Carlock
Senior Vice President of Business Development

David Carlock joined the organization as Vice President of Business Development in January 2001. Since then, he has overseen the design, construction and operation of Toyota Center and worked on a number of new business initiatives, including the Houston Regional Sports Network and the development of Toyota Center's ticketing system. In 2004, Carlock was promoted to Senior Vice President of Business Development.

Before coming to Houston, Carlock served as the Chief Operating Officer of Zooba.com, an online direct marketing company acquired in December 2000 by a division of Bertelsmann AG. His first work with the National Basketball Association came during his tenure as the Vice President of NBA City, a restaurant concept developed by the NBA and Hard Rock Cafe International. Prior to NBA City, Carlock worked as a Senior Analyst in The Walt Disney Company's Corporate Strategic Planning Department. In addition to extensive work on resort and theme park projects, he played a key role in the creation of the ESPNZone sports bar and restaurant. Carlock is a graduate of Harvard College.

Comets Executive Staff

John Dillon

General Counsel

Rafael Stone is in his second season as General Counsel of the Houston Rockets, Houston Comets and Toyota Center. He is responsible for all legal matters concerning business and team operations. His major areas of focus include legal matters for Toyota Center, television and radio agreements, sponsorship agreements, intellectual property matters, human resources matters, risk management, and compliance with league rules. In addition, Stone assists the basketball operations staff with the management of legal issues relating to each of the teams. He is also a member of the organization's senior management team.

Prior to joining the Rockets, Comets and Toyota Center, Stone served at Dewey Ballantine LLP in its mergers and acquisitions and in the capital markets group. While with Dewey Ballantine, Stone represented acquirors, targets, investment banks, investors and issuers in numerous acquisitions and financings.

A native of Seattle, Washington, Stone received a bachelor's degree in history and political science from Williams College in 1994 and graduated from Stanford Law School in 1997. He also played varsity basketball at Williams College for four years. Stone presently resides in Houston.

Comets Broadcast Team

Craig Ackerman
Radio & Television Play-by-Play

Craig Ackerman enters his first season as the Comets full-time radio play-by-play analyst and his seventh overall on the broadcast team. Prior to this season, Ackerman was the substitute play-by-play announcer for Comets radio broadcasts.

A 12-year member of the Rockets organization, Ackerman is also studio host for the Rockets radio network. Along with his on-air duties, he serves as Broadcast Manager in the Houston Rockets and Comets broadcasting department.

In addition to the Comets, Ackerman has previously served as the "Voice of the University of Houston Cougars" men's basketball and football programs. From 1997-2000, he was a member of the Rice Owls radio network. Ackerman was the sideline reporter for Rice football, as well as the play-by-play man and color analyst for Rice men's and women's basketball programs. Ackerman also served as a play-by-play man, color analyst and studio host for the Houston ThunderBears of the Arena Football League.

Ackerman and his wife, Shannon, live in Missouri City with their sons, C.J. and Chase.

Cynthia Cooper
Television Analyst

Cynthia Cooper enters her third season as a member of the Comets television team. She serves as television color analyst for the local telecast of Comets games.

Cooper, who stepped off the court and behind the camera for the Comets broadcast team, was a two-time WNBA Most Valuable Player (1997, 1998) with the Houston Comets. She recorded career averages of 21.0 points, 4.9 assists and 3.3 rebounds in 124 games with the Comets. Cooper helped the team win four consecutive titles and was named WNBA Finals MVP in each of the championship runs (1997, 1998, 1999, 2000). She was also a four-time All-WNBA First-Team member (1997, 1998, 1999, 2000).

Between her stints with the Comets, Cooper served as head coach of the Phoenix Mercury. She compiled an overall record of 19-23 (.452) from 2001-2002.

As a collegian, Cooper made three NCAA Final Four appearances with the University of Southern California. Cooper was also a member of the 1988 (gold medal) and 1992 (bronze medal) USA Olympic Teams.

Cooper was born in Chicago, Illinois, but raised in Los Angeles, California. She currently resides in Sugar Land with husband, Brian; twins Brian Jr. and Cyan; and sons Tyquon, Anthony and Tyrone. She also raised four nieces, Brenda, Latesha, Keila and Danielle. (For more information on Cooper, see pages 123-124).

Adrian Chavarria
Radio Analyst & Studio Host

A native of Los Angeles, California, Adrian Chavarria begins his first season as the Comets radio analyst and studio host.

Chavarria's experience in broadcasting began as an intern with Telemundo in 1993. For three years, Chavarria worked for Fox Sports Americas, and later Fox Sports World en Espanol, as a college basketball analyst, as well as a reporter for various sporting events. In 1996-97, Chavarria became the Rockets Spanish radio color analyst. Midway through the season, Chavarria became the Spanish play by play announcer.

Chavarria received his degree in radio/television from the University of Houston in 1996. Chavarria lived in Costa Rica from 1985-90. His mom still resides in Costa Rica, where Chavarria has frequently provided NBA analysis for various television and radio stations. Chavarria has also broadcasted games in Spanish for such teams as the Dallas Cowboys, Dallas Mavericks and Chicago Bears.

Chavarria and his wife, Michelle, reside in Katy.

Comets Broadcast Team

Tim Parris
Television Producer/Director

Tim Parris returns for his tenth season as a member of the Houston Comets broadcasting team. For the past nine seasons, Parris has served as the producer/director for Comets television. Parris also serves as the producer/director for local television broadcasts of the Houston Rockets.

Parris joined the Comets and Rockets television team after a seven-year stint as a freelance director with Fox Sports Net. His responsibilities included directing game coverage of both the Rockets and the Houston Astros as well as college baseball, men's and women's college basketball and women's college volleyball.

Prior to his time at Fox Sports Net, he spent four years with UPN 20 as the coordinating producer for the Rockets and Astros game-day broadcasts, and was the studio director for the Rockets pre-game, halftime and post-game shows. While at UPN 20, Parris won the 1988 Telly Award for the best on-air promotional spot.

Parris began his career in television production while attending the University of Arizona. He worked as a studio crew member for KGUN-TV in Tucson and was a cameraman for Arizona Wildcats football.

The Omaha, Nebraska, native lives in Houston with his wife, Terri, and daughter, Alexandra.

Haley & Team NRG

Haley

Famous for her long, flowing silver hair, boggled eyes and huggable plush blue fur, Haley is the young alien mascot of the four-time WNBA Champion Houston Comets. Her most remarkable trait is her two-foot long nose, which is always getting her into trouble – nosing it around fans and serving as the goal for a ring toss competition.

With a shoe size of 30HH and a 50-inch waistline, Haley prances about the arena spraying fans with silly string and making people laugh. Her unique strut, combined with her zany sense of humor, is enjoyed both on and off the court. Haley is heralded throughout the WNBA as a favorite among fans.

Haley, who landed in Houston on June 21, 1997, will snuggle her way into the seats at Toyota Center as well as into the hearts of Comets fans everywhere. She considers herself the largest and most loved fan of the Houston Comets.

Team NRG

The Comets Team NRG squad is considered one of the most exciting dance teams in the WNBA. This coed group of spirited and enthusiastic dancers lead Comets fans in cheering for the home team. Explosive tumbling as well as creative high-energy dance routines are performed during home games for the enjoyment of Comets fans of all ages.

Team NRG brings exciting and fun entertainment to the in-arena experience of a Houston Comets game. As the four-time WNBA Champion Houston Comets, Team NRG always gives a great performance on the court, while the talented performers celebrate and energize the game action. Ranging from pop to funk, Team NRG plays it loud and will make Toyota Center shake, rattle and roll.

The 2006 season will be the 10th Team NRG squad to perform at Comets games. Also known for their many appearances throughout the city of Houston, Team NRG is known for giving performances that make fans stand up and cheer.

Clutch City Foundation

Houston Comets Charity Luncheon

The fourth annual Clutch City Foundation Comets Charity Luncheon was held August 12, 2005 at the Four Seasons Hotel in downtown Houston. The Houston Comets Charity Luncheon is the first major charity event undertaken solely by the Comets and is designed to raise funds for various non-profit organizations in the Houston area.

Proceeds from that event benefited the Girl Scouts of San Jacinto Council and its work with 58,000 member scouts located throughout a 21 county area in East Texas.

Over 275 enthusiastic guests joined the Comets players, coaches and broadcast personalities for the luncheon, which included silent and live auctions where attendees had an opportunity to bid on a variety of auction items including a gift pack from Oprah Winfrey, VIP tickets to "The Ellen DeGeneres Show," as well as a private game of HORSE with Michelle Snow.

In the past four years, the event has raised more than $145,000 for the renovation of a basketball court used in the Therapeutic Recreation Program at the DePelchin Children's Center, for refurbishment of basketball courts in the Houston Independent School District and to benefit The Children's Assessment Center of Houston.

Rockets and Comets Owner Leslie Alexander established the Clutch City Foundation in 1995 to provide help, hope and inspiration to those who might otherwise be forgotten.

WNBA in the Community

Through WNBA Cares, the WNBA is deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on promoting a healthy lifestyle and positive body image, breast health awareness, youth and family development, and education.

WNBA Cares in partnership with NBA Cares, an initiative through which, the leagues, players and teams will raise and contribute $100 million for charity, donate more than 1 million hours of hands-on volunteer service to communities worldwide, and build more than 100 places where kids and families can live, learn and play over the next five years.

WNBA Be Smart – Be Fit – Be Yourself

WNBA Be Smart - Be Fit - Be Yourself encourages teens and women of all ages to learn more about their bodies and the importance of physical fitness through programs related to health, fitness, nutrition and self-esteem. Programming inspires teens and women to get started on "being fit" through small changes in their daily regimen. The content of the program is communicated and delivered through a Fitness Journal, a 'Team' of Spokespeople, National and Local grassroots events, promotion and a mobile tour.

Breast Health Awareness

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on generating awareness and educating women. For nine years, the WNBA Breast Health Awareness program has focused on generating awareness and educating women about breast cancer in addition to raising funds for the initiative. The WNBA and its teams have raised nearly $2 million to aid in the fight against breast cancer.

Read to Achieve

Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative supported by NBA, WNBA and NBADL teams that promotes the values of reading and on-line literacy and The program includes reading events, the encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children, donation of books and literacy materials, and the creation of Reading and Learning Centers.

Jr. WNBA

The Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA believes that By stressing fundamental skill development, teamwork, sportsmanship and positive adult participation, the Jr. WNBA aims to develop a life-long passion for the game of basketball by providing a support structure that encourages participation, and makes the game fun and rewarding for players, coaches, officials and parents.

Community Assist Award

The WNBA Community Assist Award was created to honor the WNBA Players that reflect the passion that the league and its players have for their communities. The WNBA recognizes one player in each of the 14 WNBA team markets with an off-season Community Assist Award. The WNBA donates $500 in the name of each off-season award winner to the charity of her choice. In June, July and August the WNBA chooses one player from across the league for the Community Assist Award and donates $5,000 in the name of that player to the charity of her choice. On-court presentations to the winning players occur.

Partnerships

In reaching our social responsibility goals, the WNBA is proud to partner with the following organizations:

- Girls Inc.
- Girl Scouts of America
- Susan G. Komen Foundation
- VERB
- Centers for Disease Control
- Reading is Fundamental, Inc.
- Scholastic
- DisneyHand

Toyota Center

WELCOME TO TOYOTA CENTER

The home of the Houston Rockets and Comets is here. The state-of-the-art arena in downtown Houston provides fans with a world-class environment for Houston Rockets and Comets basketball action. Designed for unequalled sports entertainment with maximum spectator comfort and convenience, the 775,000 square foot, $202 million facility is now open to the public.

"It features the most technically advanced accommodations available in any arena in the nation"

- George Postolos,
President and Chief Executive Officer

have you seen her?

"This technically advanced facility will serve as a source of civic pride for the city - and give Houstonians something to be proud of for many years to come"

- Leslie Alexander, Rockets and Comets Owner

Fans will have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to share in the excitement of Toyota Center as the Houston Comets start the 2006 WNBA season in their downtown home. Destined to become one of the country's finest and most spectacular sports venues, the arena is actually a combination of the most outstanding amenities found in new, recently completed sports and entertainment venues.

By visiting and studying more than ten sports entertainment facilities throughout the nation, selecting their most successful elements and combining those features together in one design, the Houston Rockets and Comets have created a premier, user-friendly facility highlighted with many exceptional amenities.

LOWER BOWL SEATING

Aimed at maximizing the view of the playing court for as many fans as possible, the home of the Houston Rockets and Comets provides premium sight lines while bringing fans closer than ever to game action.

CLUB SEATING

Exceptional views like those available in the arena can only be enhanced with twenty-five hundred theater-style club seats, wider than any other major sports venue.

- Eighty luxury suites and fourteen courtside suites
- Red & White Wine Bistro
- Ledge Dining

Tundra Zone

The "Tundra Zone" consists of a double-size suite, which accommodates current and potential Toyota customers. The signature element of the "Tundra Zone" is the placement of an actual Toyota Tundra in the suite, marking the only in-bowl vehicle display in any arena in the country. Additionally, fans attending events at Toyota Center will have the opportunity to view the latest models of Toyota cars and trucks at the Toyota automobile showroom located in the north section of the main concourse.

WNBA History

On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996 there have been many firsts for the WNBA: Val Ackerman – the first president of the WNBA; Sheryl Swoopes – the first player signed to the WNBA; Cynthia Cooper – the league's first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets – the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie – the first WNBA player to dunk.

The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, California. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks' guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks, 67-57.

10th Anniversary . . .

As the most successful and longest-running professional women's team sport in America, the WNBA looks forward to celebrating its 10th Anniversary in 2006 when we will pause to honor those who have enabled us to reach this milestone and eagerly look to embrace the future and the myriad opportunities that lie before us.

To commemorate this special anniversary season, the League will initiate a number of special platforms. Two of the more visible platforms will be the selection of 10 players to the WNBA All-Decade Team and the selection of the 10 Greatest Moments in WNBA history. Both initiatives will involve fan voting on WNBA.com.

Voting for the All-Decade Team, which will see fans, celebrities, media and basketball personnel narrow a group of 30 nominees to a list of 10 current and former players, will take place between April 28 and May 31. The team will be announced on June 13 and will be honored at the WNBA All-Star Game in July.

The Greatest Moments program will involve fans choosing their top 10 moments from among a list of 20 nominations. The top 10 Greatest Moments will then be aired on ESPN and ABC broadcasts with the #1 moment being unveiled during the 2006 WNBA Finals.

The WNBA's 10th anniversary season tips off on Saturday, May 20, 2006 and will include ABC's broadcast of the defending WNBA Champion Sacramento Monarchs as they commemorate their 2005 WNBA title by raising the championship banner prior to squaring off against All-Star guard Diana Taurasi and the Phoenix Mercury at ARCO Arena beginning at 4 p.m. EDT

Broadcast . . .

The national television schedule for the 2006 regular season includes six games on ABC, 14 Tuesday night games on ESPN2 (including five doubleheaders), and nearly 50 games on NBA TV. The league's 10th season also will feature appointment viewing on Tuesday nights as ESPN2 will televise 14 WNBA games – including five doubleheaders – on Tuesdays this spring/summer.

Broadcast coverage of the 2006 WNBA postseason by ABC and ESPN2 will include more first-round games than in 2005, and continuing with the league's more consistent presence on ESPN2, every game of the 2006 WNBA Finals will be televised by ESPN2.

Global Reach . . .

The WNBA enjoys significant popularity around the globe as evidenced by the fact that in each year since 1999, WNBA regular season games and Finals contests have been telecast to more countries, in more languages, via more broadcast partners than the previous year. During the 2005 season, the WNBA set records with 68 telecasters broadcasting WNBA programming to 193 countries in 31 languages. In addition, WNBA entered first-time agreements with telecasters in many markets, including Albania; Belarus; China; Czech Republic; Dominican Republic; Hong Kong; Nigeria; the Philippines; and Ukraine. International television interest in the league is driven by the league's many international stars, including Lauren Jackson of Australia, who in 2003 became the first foreign-born league MVP in the WNBA. In 2005, WNBA games and programming were broadcast to all 19 countries represented by one the league's 30 international players.

Partners . . .

The WNBA enters its groundbreaking 10th season with unprecedented marketing support for a women's professional sport. In addition to enjoying long-standing partnerships with major national and international brands such as Coke, Gatorade, Nike, Reebok, America Online, Spalding and Southwest Airlines, the league last season added major new marketing partnerships with Toyota, T-Mobile, and McDonalds. This year, new partners include Ocean Spray-Craisins and Luminari. In addition, existing partners Reebok and Spalding took on new roles, respectively, as the Presenting Partner and Associate Partner for the 2006 WNBA Draft.

The WNBA's marketing partners utilize the league to support women's sports and reach its strong fan base of women, families and young girls through advertising in the League's nationally-televised games, national promotions, player endorsements and special events. The WNBA delivers the highest concentration of adultwomen, who statistics show make the majority of purchasing decisions in American households, both in-arena and on television, of any sport.

WNBA History

WNBA All-Star . . .

On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York City, which was televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the incredible athleticism, teamwork, fan involvement and in-arena excitement that is unique to the WNBA. The Western Conference All-Stars — led by the game's Most Valuable Player and Los Angeles Sparks center Lisa Leslie — defeated the Eastern Conference 79-61.

In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game marked its fifth anniversary with a return to Madison Square Garden on July 12. The event made its network television debut on ABC. The West All-Stars won the event for the fifth straight year by beating the East All-Stars 84-75 in front of 18,610 fans, with Nikki Teasley of the Los Angeles Sparks taking home the MVP honors.

In 2004, the Summer Olympic Games in Athens, Greece created a one of a kind opportunity for the WNBA. After the league's decision to break for the month of August to allow Olympic team members to represent the U.S., the concept for WNBA All-Stars vs. USA Basketball: The Game at Radio City was born. Serving as an Olympic Team send-off, the game — played in front of a sell-out crowd — made history as the first basketball game played in the historic venue.

2005 brought the All-Star game to Mohegan Sun arena, home of the Connecticut Sun. The West All-Stars kept its perfect record alive (6-for-6) as they won the highest-scoring WNBA All-Star game in history, 122-99. MVP honors went to Houston Comets guard Sheryl Swoopes and Lisa Leslie converted on her second career WNBA dunk.

WNBA Finals . . .

The first four years of the WNBA saw the Houston Comets dominate the league Finals and create the first dynasty of the WNBA. The Comets captured the inaugural Championship against New York on August 30, 1997 by a score of 65-51. Comets guard, Cynthia Cooper won the first Finals MVP award. In 1998, the WNBA Finals expanded to a three-game series and Houston defeated Phoenix two games to one. Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her second consecutive Finals MVP award. The Houston Comets would go on to capture Championship titles in 1999 and 2000.

In 2001, Los Angeles knocked off Houston in the early rounds of the Western Conference playoffs and advanced on to meet Charlotte in the WNBA Finals. Los Angeles, due in large part to the play of Finals MVP Lisa Leslie, won the WNBA Finals two games to none. In 2002, Los Angeles advanced to the WNBA Finals and earned the right to defend their WNBA championship versus New York. The Sparks defeated the Liberty two games to zero and won their second consecutive Finals and Lisa Leslie won the WNBA Finals MVP award for the second straight year.

In 2003 the WNBA had a new championship team, after just two champions in five years. The Detroit Shock captured the WNBA crown in front of a record-setting crowd of 22,076. The Shock won 83-78 over the Los Angeles Sparks and Detroit center Ruth Riley was awarded the Finals MVP.

In 2004, the Seattle Storm and the Connecticut Sun advanced to the WNBA Finals each for the first time. In a decisive third game, the Storm who were in complete control the entire forty minutes, defeated the Sun 74-60 and Seattle guard Betty Lennox captured the Finals MVP title.

In 2005, The Sacramento Monarchs and the Connecticut Sun competed for the chance to win the first ever best-of-five WNBA Finals. The Monarchs captured the team's first WNBA championship as they took down the Sun in four games and Sacramento center Yolanda Griffith won the Finals MVP award.

WNBA History

The WNBA Draft . . .

The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the inaugural WNBA Draft. Margo Dydek, a 7-2 center from Poland, was selected first in the 1998 Draft by the Starzz, and two-time Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year Chamique Holdseclaw was the Washington Mystics' No. 1 selection in the 1999 Draft. In 2000, the Cleveland Rockers selected Ann Wauters from Belgium as the 1st overall pick, and Australian Olympian Lauren Jackson went to the Seattle Storm with the No. 1 selection in 2001. One Year later, National Player of the Year Sue Bird was selected by Seattle, who had the top pick for the second consecutive year by virtue of the WNBA's first Draft Lottery, held in New York on November 13, 2001. The Cleveland Rockers made Latoya Thomas of Mississippi State the No. 1 selection in the 2003 WNBA Draft held Friday, April 25, 2003. The 2004 first overall pick has come to be known as the worst kept secret in the history of the WNBA Draft when the Phoenix Mercury selected University of Connecticut star and three-time NCAA Champion Diana Taurasi. On April 16, 2005 Charlotte selected Janel McCarville from the University of Minnesota as the number one overall pick in the 2005 WNBA Draft.

In the Community . . .

Off the court the WNBA continues to position its players as positive role models for all of its fans - male and female, young and old. The League and its teams created and implemented programs which emphasized healthy lifestyles, positive self-image, breast health awareness, reading and youth basketball programs.

Through WNBA Cares, the WNBA is deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on promoting a healthy lifestyle and positive body image, breast health awareness, youth and family development, and education.

WNBA Cares in partnership with NBA Cares, an initiative through which, the Leagues, players and teams will raise and contribute $100 million for charity, donate more than 1 million hours of hands-on volunteer service to communities worldwide, and build more than 100 places where kids and families can live, learn and play over the next five years.

WNBA Be Smart - Be Fit - Be Yourself encourages teens and women of all ages to learn more about their bodies and the importance of physical fitness through programs related to health, fitness, nutrition and self-esteem. Programming inspires teens and women to get started on "being fit" through small changes in their daily regimen. The content of the program is communicated and delivered through a Fitness Journal, a 'Team' of Spokespeople, National and Local grassroots events, promotion and a mobile tour.

Also, this past off season the WNBA was the recipient of the 2006 Women who Make a Difference Award from the National Council on Research for Women

Key Rules . . .

Ball size: 28.5" (high school and NCAA women's) 3-point line: 20'6 1/4" (International)

The WNBA has approved three rule changes for the 2006 season:

- The format of WNBA games will be changed to four 10-minute quarters instead of the previous two 20-minute halves.
- In addition, the 24-second shot clock replaces the previous 30-second clock. It will be reset to 14 seconds when a defensive foul or other defensive violation occurs with less than 14 seconds remaining on the shot clock. It will be left unchanged when a defensive violation occurs with 14 seconds or more remaining on the shot clock.
- Jump balls to begin the second, third and fourth quarter, formerly the second half, have been eliminated and the winner of the opening tip will receive the ball out of bounds at the start of the fourth quarter. The loser of the opening tip will have position at the beginning of the second and third quarter. Jump balls, however, will still be used to determine possession after a held ball.

We Got Game . . .

Women's basketball has come a long way since its beginnings in 1892 when Senda Berenson adapted James Naismith's basketball rules for women. And with the continued growth of the WNBA, the sport continues to grow in popularity and set new standards for what women athletes, and women in general, can achieve. "C" indicates a new career-high, "T" a tied career-high.

Numbers in parentheses indicate the number of games in which a player or team has reached a given total (if more than one).

Your Fur Coat Could Save an Animal's Life

Please join me, Liza Minnelli, Mary Tyler Moore, Lauren Bacall, and others who have had a change of heart about wearing fur: Give your fur a new lease on life. Donate your coat to PETA, where it will be used in educational displays and anti-fur fashion shows. All donations are tax-deductible.

Comets Retired Numbers

#10 Kim Perrot

Comets Career: Guard (1997-1998)
January 18, 1967 – August 19, 1999
Height: 5-5, Weight: 130
Hometown: Lafayette, LA
High School: Acadiana High (Lafayette, LA)
College: Southwestern Louisiana '90

"My life has a plan, and this is just another chapter. It all revolves around the same thing – struggles I've had – and how throughout those struggles I've always won the battle. This is another battle. It's just a bigger battle. I will still tell my story."

Kim Perrot, March 17, 1999, one month after being diagnosed with cancer.

On August 19, 1999, surrounded by her family and friends, Comets point guard Kim Perrot peacefully passed away after a seven-month battle with cancer. In honor of the team's fiery point guard, who helped lead the Houston Comets to their first two WNBA Championships, the team retired the #10 jersey on July 29, 2000. It was the first player's jersey ever retired in WNBA history.

Standing at just 5'5", Kim Perrot exuded confidence and athleticism. On the court, she was fast and furious, never relenting on defense and always in the face of the opponent. Off the court, Kim became the tiny spark that caught fire and kept the team burning with passion and intensity.

Kim Perrot always had the heart and drive to succeed in anything she tried. As the point guard for the back-to-back WNBA Champion Houston Comets, Kim made a name for herself as a great basketball player, a wonderful person and a courageous fighter.

Kim, a Louisiana native and the youngest of six children, was told all her life that she was too small to play basketball. Kim refused to listen and vowed to prove her doubters wrong. She played four seasons at Southwestern Louisiana, where she set 26 school records and recorded the NCAA's second-highest scoring performance in a single game with 58 points against Southwestern Louisiana. Kim also won two USA Basketball Championships (1989, 1990) and was voted Honorable Mention All-America and Player of the Year (1989-90 season) for her conference.

Kim played for four teams overseas before trying out for the Comets. She was playing in Europe when she learned that the WNBA's inaugural season would start in the summer of 1997. Kim came to Houston determined to find a way to get into the tryouts. After persistently calling the Comets coaching staff, she was invited to join 55 other players to try out for only two roster spots. Kim showed her fire and determination and won over Head Coach Van Chancellor for a spot on the Houston roster. Not willing to simply be a player at the end of the bench, Kim worked her way up to starting point guard. Providing a crucial spark for the Comets with her positive energy, fearlessness and relentless floor leadership, Kim was the catalyst that propelled the team to back-to-back WNBA Championships.

What made Kim Perrot a woman of exceptional character was her ability to overcome personal adversity and, all the while, focus on the needs of people around her who are facing similar challenges. Kim's ongoing commitment to encouraging and motivating young people to succeed had an enormously positive affect on children throughout the city. Her success in life was a direct result of her character and the principles that defined her – faith, determination and hard work. Kim's positive outlook in the face of adversity continues to provide inspiration and motivation for each of us to succeed against all odds.

Kim is survived by her mother Consuella Perrot, brothers Craig and Kevin Perrot, sister Loretta and brother-in-law Aaron Williams, aunt Joycelyn Boze and many nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her sister Lynette Perrot and brother Keith Perrot.

"She had such joy in her life. There will never be another Kim Perrot."

Van Chancellor, Head Coach and General Manager of the Houston Comets and Kim's favorite dominos partner.

Toyota Center & Ticket Information

Toyota Center

The 2005 WNBA season marks the second year that the Houston Comets will call Toyota Center home. Toyota Center is a 775,000 square foot, $202 million facility located at 1510 Polk Street in downtown Houston. The state-of-the-art arena, which opened in September 2003, offers premium sight lines in the lower bowl, Lexus Lounge (courtside suites), luxury suites, club seating and lounges, Red & White Wine Bistro as well as ledge dining. The WNBA capacity for a Comets game is 10,063 at Toyota Center. The Comets played seven consecutive years (1997-2003) at Compaq Center (formerly known as The Summit) before moving into Toyota Center.

Season Tickets

Enjoy all the advantages of being a Season Ticker Holder, including preferred prices less than mini-plans and individual game tickets. Season Ticket Holder benefits include: 1) Option to purchase additional single game tickets at Season Ticket Holder prices. 2) Guaranteed playoff ticket priority. 3) Season Ticket Holder hotline to assist you with all your needs. To find out more about season tickets, contact the Comets at (713) 627-WNBA.

Mini-Plan Ticket Packages

Short on time but big on Comets action? Check out the six-game mini-plan ticket packages. To find out more about mini-plan ticket packages, contact the Comets at (713) 627-WNBA.

Group Tickets

Purchase tickets for a group of 15 or more people and receive the following: 1) A pre-game group welcome over the PA. 2) Group name recognition in lights on the scoreboard. 3) Special group leader incentive programs. 4) Comets Account Representative will assist you with your needs and questions. 5) And, a game-night drawing will also be held for a chance at a Comets gift for someone in the group. For more details about group tickets, contact the Comets at (713) 627-WNBA.

Individual Tickets

In Person: Visit Toyota Center Box Office.

By Phone: Pay by American Express, Discover, VISA or MasterCard by calling (713) 627-WNBA
